International conference on

Ignacy Domeyko

- a world-famous geologist and mining engineer

- on the 130th anniversary of his death

By this meeting we want to commemorate a prominent scholar - a refugee, the pride of a number of countries. He contributed significantly to economic and cultural development of Chile, and at the same time supported the Poles and scientific institutions in his native country. His research in the field of mineralogy and geological exploration of ore deposits brought him world fame. He made a huge contribution to the development of mining and education in Chile. We would like to bring closer his multilateral achievements.
